VIKTORKA

— PLZEŇSKÁ TANKOVNA —

MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME IN VIKTORKA

IN 1842, THE REAL ORIGINAL WAS BORN

A unique story of beer that inspired the whole world and created the largest beer category at present - Pilsner.

In October 1842, the brewmaster Josef Groll brewed a totally different type of beer. Until then, beer in Pilsen had been brewed using various methods. It was mostly top-fermented and of unstable quality. Groll, however, used his knowledge of bottom-fermented lager brewing, meaning a kind of beer produced using bottom yeasts at temperatures around 10° C leaving the beer subsequently lay and age for 30 days. The fact the beer is "laying" is the reason why it is called "ležák" in Czech (English word "lay" translates into Czech as "ležet").

THREE TYPES OF DRAUGHT BEER

SWEET (MLÍKO)

(Mlko, meaning „Milk“) style is a half litre of thick and creamy beer foam. It is a style of beer drawing which is popular among women. Compared to Creme Urquell and Slice, Sweet is - as the name suggests - sweeter.

SLICE

Slice (Šnyt) is a smaller amount of beer with higher portion of creamy foam. The thick layer of foam gives the beer smoother zest and keeps it fresh for a longer time. That is the reason why Slice is suitable for tasting. It is also an option for those who do not feel like (or do not have time) for half a litre.

CREME URQUELL

The most common style of beer drawing. The glass is filled in one go, thanks to which the beer has nice wet creamy foam that does not brim over.
